

GREENBANK PARISH CHURCH, EDINBURGH
Winner of Best Public/Leisure Space in Scottish Design Awards, Mention in Civic Trust Awards

In January 1999 we were commissioned to design a new multi purpose hall for Greenbank Parish Church, following a two stage limited competition.

The design emphasises the relationship between the old and the new and represents the progressive outlook of a thriving congregation, which sees the Church very much at the centre of the community.

The brief includes a nursery facility with associated garden/play space and a variety of flexible spaces for use by Church Organisations.

The project was completed in December 2001.

Client : Greenbank Parish Church
Value : £1 million
