

ST PAUL'S AND ST GEORGE'S CHURCH

The Grade A listed Church of St Paul's and St George's has an expanding and vibrant congregation that had been struggling to function effectively in the impressive Gothic Revival Building on York Place, Edinburgh. The purpose of this project was to address this issue, to make the building fit for its purpose and to sustain its use as a place of worship and congregation for the years to come. The new works act as a symbol of the Church's intention to look forward and give an outward expression of their faith. The project has been acclaimed for the manner in which the contemporary elements have been sensitively integrated with the listed period architecture.

Works included a new glass entrance canopy, three new balcony levels in the upgraded sanctuary and a three storey extension to the rear of the church providing a range of multi-purpose spaces.

The positive response from the congregation has been overwhelming and they are very much enjoying using their new modern facilities with over 80 different events in the building every month.

"Lee Boyd provided us with an impressive level of commitment over the duration of our 8 year project. They have shown tenacity, flexibility and creativity throughout. We have had an excellent working relationship with the team as they have patiently listened to our wide ranging needs as a client. Their attention to detail and consistent pursuit of excellence continues to delight us!"

Emma Vardy, Project Manager, St Paul's and St George's Church

Client: St Paul's and St George's Church
Value: £5 million
Completion: August 2008

Awards : Winner of Building of the Year - Edinburgh Architectural Awards 2009, Winner of Bronze Roses Design Award - Reuse of a Listed Building, Shortlisted in the Scottish Design Awards 2009 - Reuse of a Listed Building, Shortlisted in RIBA Awards.

